IV NUTRITION THERAPY

Bringing you the healthcare of tomorrow, today!

WHY NUTRITION THERAPY?

If we get high doses of quality vitamins, minerals, and other things that can help your body detoxify, lower inflammation, all while providing the nutrients needed, we can help you get better, look better, feel better, and be better.

The answer is simple. You can bypass your digestive system and get a more efficient/effective absorption of nutrients right through your bloodstream. With IV nutrition you can get very high levels of absorption of desperately needed vitamins and minerals. This can quickly restore the levels in the body needed for therapeutic changes. IV therapies can give your body what it needs to help restore your health. It can also help improve the results of your treatment program in our office.

The North American diet is comprised of 70% processed foods. Lack of nutrients in the foods that people are eating as well compromised digestive systems leading to poor nutrient absorption. Today people have demanding lifestyles, don't exercise enough, and do not get proper rest and sleep. We also have to account for severe soil depletion which has stripped off significant nutrients from the soil has led to poor food quality. The quantity, as well as quality of nutrients we get from our food, has diminished drastically.

This has led to many health care crises across the country. In spite of technological advances in America people are getting sicker and are becoming more and more unhealthy.

It has been said that many of today's modern healthy care problems are caused by inflammation in our bodies. Chronic inflammation has been shown to cause pain and can lead to other degenerative conditions your body.
